THE EMPIRE

WILD WEST TASMANIA HOTEL EST. 1901

Welcome to The Empire Hotel, a Tasmanian icon with history dating back to the wealth of the mining era at the turn of last century.

It is the 'grand old lady' of the West Coast and has a prominent facade in the town's streetscape.

Our head chef Paul Fajardo has a wealth of experience spanning across many cuisines and has created a menu to celebrate the amazing Tasmanian ingredients that we are lucky enough to have at our doorstep.

If you have any special requests, please don't hesitate speaking to a team member. Enjoy your visit!

Many travel from far and wide to admire our 'National Trust' listed staircase. Locally cut Blackwood was sent to England to be turned and crafted (notice the beautifully detailed classic English acorns), before being shipped back to Queenstown in 1904.

It was then assembled in our foyer, where it was admired for some 90 years before being meticulously renovated in 1994.

Today, it stands proud in our foyer and the team at The Empire are dedicated to maintaining this piece of local history for decades to come.
